

Instructions for binding rugs with balls of wool.

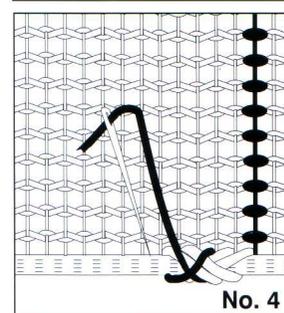

STEP NO. 1 Cut 1.5 metres of wool and commence whipping with the pile facing downwards onto a table with either of the edges (selvedge) nearest to you. Working from right to left, start by going down into the third hole from the end, leaving two clear holes at the end of the rug. Continue to go down into the next four holes covering the end as you proceed. This looping stitch covers the selvedge before you start with the actual whipping stitch.

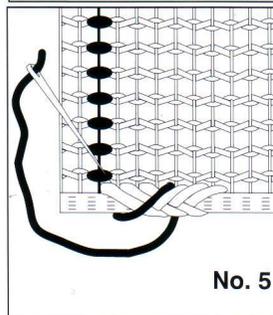

STEP NO. 2 To complete the first steps you must now go back over and across the looping stitches you have just done and go down into the hole in which you first began. Don't go into the end holes, which should be left empty at this stage to allow for finishing off later on.

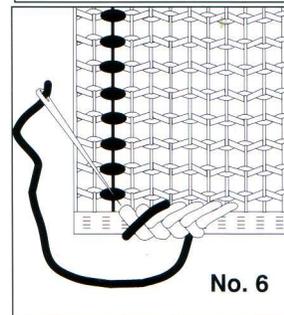

STEP NO. 3 The whipping stitch is made by going back to the second hole from the end, having taken the yarn over and across the earlier stitches, so that it now lies across these stitches and next to the previous cross-stitch which was completed in Step No 2. Having gone down into the second hole from the end, you can now go up, over and across into the next empty hole.

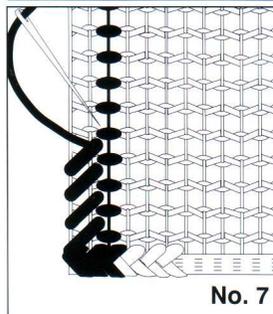

STEP NO. 4 To continue the whipping stitch, bring the yarn back over and down into the third hole from the starting end and then back over and down into the next empty hole. You will see that there are three complete holes between the hole that you start from and the hole in which you finish. It is important to maintain the same spacing throughout the whipping.

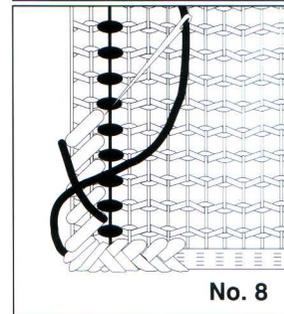

STEP NO. 5 Continue whipping until your advancing stitch reaches the last but one hole and instead of going down into the next hole as the follow on, simply go back down into the end hole as shown in step no. 5.

STEP NO. 6 Continue the whipping as shown in step no. 7 until both the stitches are in line, and then take the yarn across both of them, going down into the last but one hole again. Remember not to go down into the final hole.

STEP NO. 7 Continue the whipping around the corner by going round the edge and going down each time into the hole shown at the end of the needle in step no.6. This circular motion should be continued until the corner has disappeared. Then go down into the next five holes as if starting from the beginning.

STEP NO. 8 Continue as for step no. 2 and then carry on with the whipping stitch as shown earlier in step no. 3.
